College Prepares For Spring Contests

by Jean Webb

Dates for the spring contests have been scheduled and 103 schools in the Northwest District of Missouri are eligible to enter. These annual contests will be held at the College.

Speech and drama contests will be held March 24 under the direction of Mr. Ralph E. Fulson, chairman of the speech and drama department. These events include sessions in public speaking, extempore speaking, prose reading, verse readings, and one act plays.

All plays will be presented in the main auditorium of the Administration building.

Directed by Mr. Everett W. Brown, the music contests will be March 26 and 27. Rulings of the Missouri State High School Activities Association will govern the contests. Changes which have been made in the rules for this year include the deletion of the required music provision, and, all entries which receive a "I" rating at Maryville are certified to the state contests.

Commerce contests, directed by Mr. Dale J. Blackwell, will be March 25. These contests will consist of typewriting speed and accuracy tests, typing production tests, bookkeeping and accounting tests, and shorthand and transcription tests. Only the individual winning first place will be certified to enter the state contest.

April 9 and 10 are the dates for the agriculture contests. Mr. R. T. Wright will direct these events.

Schedule Is Changed

Because of a change in dates for the annual high school contests it is necessary to postpone mid-semester examinations. The new test period is from Monday, March 29, through Friday, April 2.

Home Economics Department Has Major Day for High Schools

Home Economics Major Day will be held at the College on March 20 with open house to be conducted during the entire day.

Those planning this year's activities are a committee of home economics students, the home economics staff, and two teachers from county high schools, Mrs. Burton Richey and Mrs. Montgomery Wilson.

High school senior girls living in Nodaway county will be the featured guests. The mothers and a teacher from each school have also been invited. Senior girls from King City are included with the group as the home economic off-campus teaching center is located there.

The high schools have been divided into groups which will arrive at different times. Exhibits and demonstrations will be held in the clothing room, foods laboratory, and the discussion room of the Home Economics Department.

Buzz sessions for small groups of ten to twelve girls will be held. Two informal sessions will also be held for the mothers.

Tea will be served at the Home Management House to close the day's activities.

Committees and their responsibilities are as follows: Miss Cook and Mildred Maxon—exhibits for room 311 and planning of the buzz sessions; Mrs. Fisher, Roberta Kordes, Betty Dougan—exhibits for clothing room and demonstrations and registration.

While her mother and brother wrangle with the "gentleman caller" in the background, Laura Wingfield—played by Kaye Ferguson, freshman student from Hamburg, Ia.—rests in the foreground. The mother and brother are played by John Lee Thompson, junior, Maryville, and Rolande Thompson, freshman, Ravenwood. The "gentleman caller" (standing) is played by Don Hochstein, Osceola, Ia. The above is a scene from the College presentation of "The Glass Menagerie."

Judging Team Takes Honors

The livestock judging team from Northwest Missouri State college participation for the second time took high honors in the Oklahoma City Invitational Intercollegiate Livestock Judging contest held there Saturday.

Under the supervision of F. B. Houghton, the team took second in total points in the division, losing by only one point to Northeast Oklahoma A & M, Miami, Okla.

The team was made up of Donald Blackford, Max Nelson, and Harold Baker, all of Maryville; Marlan Tiemann, Westboro; James Jackson and Laverne Brown, Skidmore; and Melvin Triggs, Mt. Ayr, Ia., all students in the department of agriculture.

The group took first place in beef cattle judging and third in hog judging.

Individual honors went to Tiemann, who was high point man in beef cattle division and fourth high in all divisions; Jackson, who took second high in all judging and fifth in the hog division.

Tiemann, Jackson, Nelson, Brown and Blackford were team members while Baker and Triggs were alternates.

The college team was entered in the junior division of the contest, which was set up for schools having but two years of technical agriculture or its equivalent.

You All Come

The library will be open on Saturday mornings at 8:00 a. m., as on regular school days, through a trial period of two weeks. If use is too low to justify the 8 o'clock opening, the library will revert to a 9 o'clock opening. Saturday hours: 8:00 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Parents Will Have A Special Day on Friday

This Friday parents of NWMSC students will be on campus from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. taking part in the Fifth Annual Parents' Day activities.

Parents will attend classes with their sons and daughters and will be given the opportunity to meet and talk with the professors.

A special assembly under the direction of Kenneth E. Bird is scheduled for the ten o'clock hour. A tea will be held in the Union Lounge from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m.

Dr. Frank W. Grube, chairman of the Parents' Day Committee, has requested that each student make it his purpose to bring his parents to the campus this Friday.

Dance Recital Is Scheduled April 1

April 1 is the date chosen for the Annual Dance Recital to be held at the College auditorium, starting at 8:15 p. m.

The yearly program is sponsored by Miss Doris Hysler of the physical education department and is produced under the joint endeavors of the Dance Club and the Modern Dance Class.

Highlighting the arrangements danced in this year's program will be several impressive numbers.

"The Jaunty Age of Gold," a polka by Shostakovich, is a completely mysterious number which will surprise the audience by its dramatic turn of events.

LeRoy Anderson's "Belle of the Ball" waltz will be enacted by the entire group.

Morton Gould's "Deserted Ballroom" is an eerie number in which the dancers return to the scene of their former activities and perform a rather haunted dance.

Ritual will be danced to the theme music from the movie "Quo Vadis."

College women taking part in the recital are Pat Adams, Mary Anderson, Marym Croy, Elizabeth Cushman, Greta Garten, Phyllis Hayes, Nancy Kariger, Lois Kemper, Barbara Kunze, Lavon Mattes, Carolyn McDonald, Beverly Murphy, Marilyn O'Connor, Betty Rion, Gloria Ryan, Shirley Motsinger, Angie Saale, Marilyn Houston, Gerry Struck, and Mary Ann Funkhouser.

Costumes for the program were designed and made by Miss Hysler. Mr. Ralph Fulson is the technical director.

Student activity ticket, or 50c, will admit one to the recital.

At 9:30 o'clock this morning the student body will be granted the opportunity to see Tennessee Williams' Pulitzer Prize Play, "The Glass Menagerie."

The speech department has worked diligently preparing for this presentation. Being a memory play, its unusual manner of production should offer the audience an excellent performance.

Kaye Ferguson will act the sensitive and comprehensive characterization of Laura Wingfield, the crippled daughter.

The role of Tom Wingfield will be supplied by John Lee Thompson. In addition to his part time job in a warehouse, he will also be the narrator giving the inside slant to the play, necessitating compromise and brashness to produce the desired effects.

Rolande Thompson will portray Amanda Wingfield, the mother. Clinging to the past, Amanda lives in complete mental confusion. She is a combination of endurance, heroism, and foolishness, and occasional restraints to cruelty.

Dan Hochstein will play the part of the suave gentleman caller was courts Laura.

Students working on the production staff for the "Glass Menagerie" are Miles Stucker, Richard Oakerson, and Walter Hopkins. The cast has been coached by Dr. Ralph Fulson, chairman of the Speech Department.

Missourian Takes Top Contest Award

Missouri teachers colleges won high honors Friday in the Columbia Scholastic Press association's 30th annual contest for student newspapers and magazines.

The Southeast Missouri State College of Cape Girardeau was given a medalist rating, the highest, for its newspaper The Capaha Arrow.

Northwest Missouri State College and the Northeast Missouri State Teachers College won first place honors in the same division, a rating of 850 to 1,000 points out of a possible 1,000. This college publishes the Northwest Missourian, while the Kirksville school publishes the Teachers College Index.

Missouri Military Academy, Mexico, Mo., was awarded second place for the M. M. A. Eagle in the division for printed newspapers in boys' private secondary schools.

The paper is set up and printed in the Daily Forum Print Shop.

Galen Drennan, Mt. Etna, Iowa, has been called home because of the death of his father, Mrs. C. O. Drennan.

THE STROLLER

College men living in the Quads are still loyal to their home town high schools. With basketball tournaments in full swing in both Iowa and Mizzu it is really discouraging to some when a home town gets beat in tournament play, or encouraging to others when they have a chance to use the "rub it in" routine.

Rivalry between the loyal followers of the "the Corn State" and basketball enthusiasts of "the Showme State" is strong. If fans on this campus had their way a game between the states might have to be played just to make the decisions.

The Stroller warns all escorts taking girls home after a date to be careful on the front porch of Residence Hall. Merely gazing at the moon or carrying on a conversation seems to attract beaming faces to the windows overlooking the front of the building and overlooking the escorts, too.

A few girls seem to have more fun looking out of the windows than they do looking in their books. Rumor has it that Nancy Kariger is the instigator of these peeping Jills.

Spring must be coming. Quad men are doing their house cleaning. In addition to the aroma of cigarette smoke, empty ink wells, and sweet smelling shaving lotion, there is a new atmosphere of wax, polish, and Nu-gloss.

Cobwebs have been brushed off and the brooms have been overused by some male students who never knew before what a clean room could look like. The change is different but well received. When spring really rolls around to this part of Mizzu the Quads will be in condition.

Overstreets Talk About Prejudice

by Janet Rew

Wednesday's assembly audience was given causes and treatment of prejudice. They were told that more than one type of prejudice exists and each type should be recognized before attempting to retard it.

Grand lecturers were Dr. Harry Overstreet, philosopher, educator, and author of the best-selling books "The Mature Mind" and "The Great Enterprise," who appeared for the second time, and his wife Dr. Bonaro Overstreet.

What is prejudice? The doctors designated the following conditions as symptoms: (1) environmental restriction of thoughts and actions; (2) selfish advantages and exclusiveness; (3) psychological distortion. This latter type of person has a fixated personality which he does not intend to change.

Cures for the different types of prejudices, according to the Overstreets, include: (1) in the case of environmental prejudices, to expand physically, mentally or emotionally; (2) use of intelligence; (3) elimination of provincialism.

"A prejudiced person cannot be a conveyor of justice," declared the doctors. Three major types of harm caused from prejudice are: (1) injustice to those against whom the prejudice is directed; (2) stunting of one's growth; (3) harm to society because good-will is retarded.

Because of the serious illness of her uncle, Doris Youngschlager was absent from school, last week.

There's Been a Change

Students, there has been a change! No longer is the road going north from the College named Truman Road. The Maryville city council has authorized the change of "Truman Road" to "North College Road" at a recent meeting.

Truman Road is the road going north from the Wabash overpass, just north of the College.

This change should suit all Republicans, but it just goes to prove how short lived fame really is.

Filipino Speaks At Horace Mann Assembly

Marino Gatan from the Philippine Islands, who is a student at Conception, Missouri, was the speaker at a grade school assembly of Horace Mann Laboratory school Thursday afternoon.

All arrangements were made by sixth grade pupils that are taught by Mrs. Avis Graham. They have been studying a unit on the United Nations. Margaret St. Clair, chairman of the Philippine group, introduced the speaker.

Senor Gatan came early and smilingly gave his autograph to the members of the class, and asked for theirs in return. He expressed his pleasure at the students' interest in other countries. He told them much about the present day customs and conditions in his country, and urged them to be thankful for the opportunities that they have in the United States.

Sherry Grindstaff was absent from classes March 8-12. Sherry had a wisdom tooth extracted by a specialist in Des Moines.

6. The names of the students selected for WHO'S WHO shall be announced at the annual honors day assembly and suitable awards made at that time.

Sharp Keeps Record

NWMSMC has a former track star who is still keeping his former record. Hubert Sharp, who recently enlisted in the Air Force, was chosen to represent his division in the Air Force high and broad jump contests.

Hubert was chosen over 700 men and will compete with the winners of five other divisions.

College Instructors Organize F. T. A. Club

Two Northwest Missouri State College instructors and one student will assist in the organization of a Future Teachers Association for Maryville High School students on March 23. The meeting will be held at the Eugene Field School cafeteria.

Mr. Everett Brown, director of Field Services, will speak on the topic "The Facts and Figures of The Teaching Profession." "Inspiration Side of Teaching" will be discussed by Miss Rachael Taul, counselor of students.

Marilyn Gilliland, senior, Ludlow, will talk to the students who are interested in home economics. Physical education teaching will be discussed by Miss Katherine Barmann, graduate of the college.

Mrs. Ross Wallace, graduate of the college, heads the committee which is promoting the organization to help cope with the predicted shortage of teachers in the next decade.

Joyce Haws has had a few days with her husband while he is home on furlough. George, a former student at NWMSMC, will be transferred to a new base when he leaves for active duty.

Hey, It's the Creep—Get Hep!

by Jo Ann Meek

"I'm doing the creep, are you?" Everybody does it. Replacing the bunny hop, this dance is a top tune and dance of the day.

Go! Go! Go! "Come on, get on your dancing spree and let's shuffle on."

Start with the left foot. I'll be the leader. Take one shuffle step backward and bring the right foot along side at the left. Then a shuffling step with the right foot followed by the closing with the left. "Come on, let's get hep!" A hop to the left; then one to the right. Keep on repeating, gliding with the rhythm of the music. That's all there is!

Other variations of the creep are for pros. Some are called the "Creep Travel" and "Creep Dip."

Teens of London developed this dance when a new record took the country. Somehow, both the dance and the tune came over to us.

Next time the gang decides to do the creep, let's all do it. Don't blush, there's no excuse. Creep by any other name would still be the creep, but the only thing creepy about the creep is the name.

Many students have been wondering what has happened to the I. M. B., which is no longer in the I. M. B. Room. It is now located in the Reserve Room, where students will have more room to work with the special materials of the Instructional Materials Bureau.

This new move was made for the increased convenience and service to students. The staff of the I. M. B. will be found in the I. M. B. office or in the Reserve Room and will continue to be available for information and assistance—do not hesitate to call upon them when you need help.

Following the short business meeting, active initiation was held for Mary Jane Kurtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kurtz of Maryville, and Gerald Sprong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sprong of Chillicothe.

Pledge initiation will be held at the next meeting.

Reading Notes ASA

Quite early one Saturday morning the actives were rudely awakened from deep slumber by a horde of pledges. The actives rebelled as there was no reason for them to get up so early in the morning. But the pledges were persistent and soon bundled the groggy actives off to Tucker's Cafe to a "Come As You Are Breakfast." The pledges very generously treated the actives to a delicious breakfast.

Highlights of the event were exterminating Mallerd from her bed, the disappearance of Darlene's car, and Shirley's technique of being the alarm clock!

Alpha Sigma Alpha's alumnae chapter gave a bountiful buffet supper in honor of the active chapter. Evelyn Hillman was stupified by the sudden appearance of a magnificent birthday cake adorned with 21 blazing green candles which she poofed out with one poof.

This extravaganza was developed around the Saint Patrick's theme, complete to the minutest detail. After the feast the new pledges, Coleen Beggs, Elaine Landis, and Lorraine Mau, were introduced and presented with red carnations.

Quotation of the week: "What wisdom can you find that is greater than kindness?"

Sigma Sigmas

Helen Mutz, member of the alumna chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma, presented the sorority with a beautiful white shag rug for the chapter room at a recent meeting. The members of Sigma Sigma Sigma are very much pleased with the rug and wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Mutz for the beautiful gift.

After the meeting, a white elephant sale was held. The proceeds went to the social service fund.

On Sunday afternoon, the alumnae were guests of honor at a tea held in the chapter room. Barbara Fox was in charge of food. Ruth Tebow was program chairman, and Marilyn Gilliland was in charge of table decorations. Roberta Kordes issued the invitations.

Rumor Has It!

A few of the students in the business department have been enjoying a short vacation during the absence of Dr. Sterling Surrey.

Rumor has it that Dr. Surrey went out after the morning paper, barefooted, and stubbed his toe, causing a cut that required six stitches to be taken.

Perhaps those who voted that Dr. Surrey has big feet knew what they were talking about!

Industrial Art Club Visits Business Firms in Kansas City

Phi Sig Review

Phi Sigs have high hopes for the Orchid Ball, March 20. The committee has reported to the Phi Sigs on all plans.

Retiring president, Al Spies, installed the new officers and John Barrett, the new president, presided at the last meeting. John appointed Bill Baber as the new sergeant-at-arms. The other new officers performed their duties and the retiring ones joined the rest of the group and are now taking it easy.

Plans are now under way for the Spring Frolics. The end-men were appointed by the president. Dick Merkle was appointed interlocutor for the event. Everyone is wondering who will make the best minstrel.

George McCleave was appointed to plan an exhibit for the Parents-Teachers Association meeting. All the members will help on this.

In a few weeks a district Phi Sig conclave will be held here. Accommodations are being made for the visiting frat brothers and a good program is planned. It will be a weekend affair with a party on the Saturday night.

Phi Sig pledges came to the last meeting and really got a bang out of things. George Haskey and Dick Marsh are very good contributors to the cause.

Congratulations to Dick Merkle on pinning Louise Novinger. It's either being thrown in the College pond or cigars from Dick, now!

On March 2, 35 members of the Industrial Arts Club with their sponsors, Mr. Donald Valk, Mr. Kenneth Thompson, and Mr. Howard Ringold, made an industrial tour in Kansas City.

They spent the first two and one-half hours touring Sheffield Steel Company, seeing the processing of steel, the by-products, the big furnaces, and other huge machines.

Later they toured the beautiful new Paxton Lumber Warehouse, seeing the modern offices, lumber stacks, and surfacing equipment. After lunch, they attended the Auto Show in the Municipal Auditorium.

Colhecon met in the Home Economic Lounge last Wednesday night. The president, Bonnie Henderson, presided.

Some of the Colhecon members plan to attend a convention at Columbia, March 26 and 27. The trip promises to be very interesting and eventful.

McCracken was a star on the Maryville college team during the 1930, '31 and '32 seasons, coming to the local college from Classen high school with Coach Henry Iba in the fall of 1929. Another player, well known to local basketball fans, was likewise honored at the same luncheon. He is Ernest (One Grand) Schmidt.

In 1931 the 'Cats won 33 out of 39 games, and during this season they had their 42 game winning streak snapped by Pittsburg and the above mentioned Ernie Schmidt. The year 1932 was the most glamorous in Bearcat history. After beating the Wichita Henrys 16 to 14 during the season, they lost to the same team in old Convention Hall in Kansas City in the national championship.

After the Kansas City tournament the 'Cats played the Henrys again in Wichita and lost. Those were the only two losses that year out of 26 games. During that season Maryville broke the Pittsburg Teachers' string of 48 victories. On the 1932 squad were McCracken, Dowell, Merrick, Stalcup, Sheldon, Hodgkinson, O'Conner, and John and Otis Lisle.

Leland Medsker, alumnus now living in Danville, Calif., spent Friday and Saturday in Maryville.

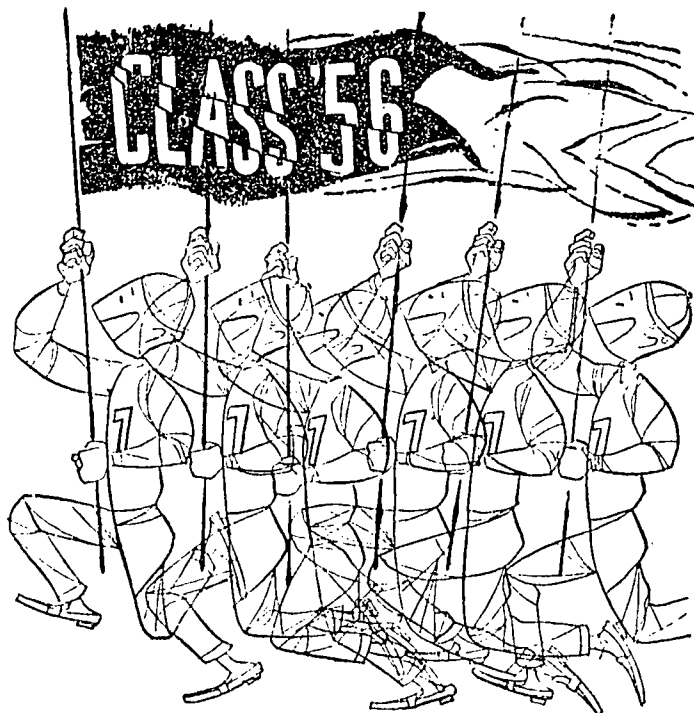

He is director of the Contra Costa Junior College, Calif.

NAIA basketball action found many of the campus cage enthusiasts making the long trek to Kansas City. . . many came back bubbling over with talk about Gustavus Adolphus. . . next night NAIA champs knocked them out of the tourney . . .

Bevo Francis, the Rio Grande scoring whiz, didn't draw too many rave notices. . . too bad he was not appearing under normal circumstances. . . seems the big scorer spends the day on crutches then doffs them to play in the game that night. . . he suffers from a cracked bone in the ankle. . . Coach shoots him full of novacaine so there won't be any pain.

Another of Maryville's fine ex-athletes has returned to the campus. . . He's Lynn Leffert who was quite a trackman while in school here during the 48-49 season. . . still in service with Uncle Sam's Air Force but will be back on the cinder paths once he gets his discharge. . .

Horace Mann just ran into their poorest played game of the season in losing to Alton at Columbia last week. . . it's a pity the Cub hoopsters had to wait until state tournament time to play a bad game . . . anyway you look at it though, they still had a highly successful season. . . congratulations go to the Cubs and Coach Burt Richey and his assistant Don Palmer. . .

If you're not doing anything tomorrow night, why not drop St. Joseph way and get a look at the Maryville Lions Club All Star basketball game. . . twenty-two of the best high school basketball players in Northwest Missouri will be seen in action. . . Daryl Flint, Eddie Hightree and Lex Creamell now playing for the Green and White played in the first All Star game two years ago. . .

Round Robin League To Be Climaxed By Tournament

Intramural softball, long a favorite springtime sports of NWMSO gets underway, weather permitting, April 1.

All games will be played on the Intramural field with action slated for four days of the week with two games scheduled each day.

Group managers are urged to contact all interested players and get in some practice sessions in order to be ready to go when the season opens.

Last year the Western Athletic Club took top honors in the round robin league with the All States finishing second.

The standings were reversed in the tournament playoffs with the All Staters nipping the Westerners for the title.

The same type of tournament will be held again this year.

Elsewhere on the intramural front, Bill Grooms of the Red Labels took the singles ping pong championship by defeating George Nathan in the finals.

Doubles competition is still underway with its finishing date scheduled for no later than March 26.

Bill Norton and Ono Monachino, All States players, won first place in badminton doubles by beating Don Palmer and Bill Baldwin of the Westerners.

Competition in Aerial Darts, both singles and doubles, are taking the spotlight this week.

Horseshoes, tennis and golf are the three remaining intramural sports yet to be played, and they'll be run off during the middle of April.
